As golf is an individual sport practiced outdoors, its practice will be admitted.

It should be noted, however, that only professional or similar competitive activities (see paragraph 2 of Article 34) will be admitted, without an audience and in compliance with the guidelines of the DGS.

The following guidelines from the Directorate-General for Health should be considered:

The current and well-known seriousness of the pandemic we are experiencing, leads us to, once again, appeal to the responsibility of all practitioners of the sport in strict and strict compliance with all the legal provisions and guidelines of the DGS in force.

The duty of home care should guide the new period of containment we now enter, for the sake of everyone's health and life, each of whom must respect what is the rule and not seek exceptions for their individual benefit.
