

Stay Safe – Eat Well

Now that the UK has included Portugal on its travel corridor list as a Covid-19 safe country, (we always knew it was safe), now more than ever before it is important to keep it that way. Should any increase in confirmed cases occur it could mean subsequent removal from the list, which would result in major difficulties for visitors already here.

So we all have a responsibility in keeping Portugal safe.

One of the great attractions in living and visiting Portugal is eating out at restaurants, especially rural restaurants which can offer very traditional food and very reasonable prices. To get the best from these experiences, Safe Communities offers the following tips in line with the laws in place.

Firstly book beforehand where possible as restaurant capacities may be limited, due to spacing requirements.

Upon entry into a restaurant always wear a mask and also whilst moving around and going to the washroom etc. Await to be seated, as tables will need to be cleaned beforehand. When seated you can of course remove your mask. On no account move tables and chairs around as they have been placed where they are for safety reasons. Although hand sanitizer should be available, take some with you as well.

Groups are restricted to 20 in public places so please avoid large gatherings outside, and drinking alcohol in public areas which is also prohibited.

We are living in unprecedented times so be patient and help restaurant staff who are doing their best.

Lastly enjoy your meal
